

iSinclair's plan to force it's stations to play the anti-kerry fable on the eve of the election is unconsciousable from any perspective, ethical, patriotic, business, historical.
It smacks of third-world dictators controlling elections to ensure the results appear to be the people's choice.
I am horrified at the ramifications of this destructive act. As a journalist all my working life, I am very afraid of where this uncontrolled partisanship can lead. Don't let Sinclair ignore what is right for their petty ends; too much is at stake.
